Rising up to end violence in 2 generations
Every child deserves to grow up in a home free of violence.

Yet the number of local children that we know of living in violent homes could fill an entire elementary and middle school in Grand Forks.

We’re on a mission to change that.

There is a saying that we can see farther and do more because we stand on the shoulders of giants. We are able to rise up because of the people in our lives who stand with us when it matters the most. At CVIC, we know this to be true. Our partnerships are what make us strong and enable us to do what may seem otherwise impossible—to virtually end local violence in two generations.

We dedicate our 2018 report to our amazing partners, affirming our belief in the power of our community to accomplish great things. We know that our Safer Tomorrows Road Map will be successful in virtually ending violence because our formidable team is committed to keeping every family safe and ensuring healing for every child. We will be successful because we won’t settle for just treating the symptoms but are dedicated to changing the very culture that permits violence.

The history of our country is filled with breaking barriers, of doing the impossible because we’ve had the privilege of standing on the shoulders of giants and rising up. Such as mastering the science of flight or putting a man on the moon. “Impossible,” someone surely said. But a team of people decided it wasn’t. “Impossible,” our clients have been told. “You will never make it on your own if you leave.” But they will tell you that some mighty shoulders held them up when they needed it the most.

We have an exciting road ahead of us and, if 2018 is any indication, we know we will arrive at our destination, becoming a vibrant community that ensures safety and healing for all people.
Domestic Violence Court:

Grand Forks County initiated the state’s first domestic violence court in August 2018, commissioned by the ND Supreme Court. Through close collaboration among the court and CVIC, we have had great success in holding domestic violence offenders accountable with court orders to our New Choices program. In 2018, New Choices served a record 227 adults (up 46% from 2017), with a record 46 completing the program (up 70% from 2017). Ultimately, this partnership is expected to reduce repeat offenses and keep both victims and our entire community safer.

One of our most successful partnerships is with the criminal justice system. In 2018, we tracked 1,107 cases of domestic/sexual violence from arrest to final sentencing to make Grand Forks safer.

Lethality Assessment Program:

Over the last few years, CVIC and national experts trained more than 200 officers with Grand Forks police and sheriff, UND, Thompson and Northwood police, and the base security forces to assess the danger level at the scene of 911 domestic violence calls. When there is a high score, officers immediately connect those victims to a CVIC advocate at the scene. In just 3 years, 419 victims were screened as being at a high risk of being murdered. Thanks to our partnership with these courageous first responders, these people are alive, and 138 victims accessed services at CVIC for the very first time.

Breaking barriers

In 2018, we engaged both new and veteran partners to do what may seem impossible—to rise up and put Greater Grand Forks on the map as the first community to virtually end violence. Highlights of our progress are featured on the next few pages. We know that the impact of the Safer Tomorrows Road Map will only be realized if we implement all components (safety, healing and education) simultaneously. One component alone is like a pixel in a photograph: it’s not enough to create the entire picture. To reach a critical mass, we must work collectively on all levels at once before our community begins to organically reject violence and embrace healthy relationships as the norm.

Our vision for Greater Grand Forks

- Families will be safe and have what they need to stabilize their lives
- People will heal from trauma with therapies that change the neural pathways in the brain
- People will learn about healthy relationships to create a community that no longer tolerates violence

Safety
- Crisis intervention and collaboration with law enforcement & healthcare
- Shelter
- Legal representation
- Transitional housing
- Safe child visitation
- Criminal justice advocacy
- New Choices for adults to end their violence at home
- Collaboration with new Domestic Violence Court

Healing
- Evidence-based therapies that change the neural pathways in the brain to promote healing
- Therapy dog, Louie, that accelerates healing so we can serve more in need
- Counseling at city & rural schools in GF County so all kids can access services
- Art therapy for adults & children

Education
- Evidenced-based healthy relationship education for K-12 at 28 schools in GF County
- Coaching Boys Into Men & Athletes as Leaders to teach high school athletes about respect
- Training & prevention education for adults
- New Green Dot bystander intervention education for our community

3 ways we are thinking outside the box

It takes a community to create bold change

1

SAFETY

One of our most successful partnerships is with the criminal justice system. In 2018, we tracked 1,107 cases of domestic/sexual violence from arrest to final sentencing to make Grand Forks safer.

419 people at high risk of harm
138 provided safety for first time

Without CVIC, my children and I would not be free today.

I never thought I could have wanted so much help to be a better man.
Youth therapy: Our school partnerships are key to helping children heal from trauma. Schools across Grand Forks County are opening their doors so our therapists can serve students on site, ensuring more children can access services that help them heal from bullying, domestic and dating violence, and sexual assault. This is one of the most important things we have ever done at CVIC, and school administrators tell us they are seeing a positive difference in their students’ behavior.

New member of our therapy team: Kids love our new therapy dog-in-training, Louie, who is a frequent helper during therapy sessions at the schools and CVIC offices. He has already graduated from obedience training and will begin specialized training in the coming year.

An alarming trend: Our therapists serving the city and rural areas are seeing more of our youth harming themselves or contemplating suicide. We are working with them through the crisis, and many are once more finding hope as they learn healthy coping skills and begin to heal.

179 children and youth provided therapy/support by CVIC in 2018

Adult therapy: In 2018, The Village Family Service Center came on board as a partner, supported by one of our Trailblazers (see facing page). Therapists at The Village will receive training on evidence-based therapies to assist us in our goal of reaching adults and kids traumatized by violence in the coming year. In 2018, CVIC provided 829 therapy sessions to 59 local adults.

Our Trailblazers: One of the most important partnerships we have is with our Trailblazers, who were there with us from the start, daring to dream of a community in which no child will ever have to be afraid at home again. It is a fact that the Safer Tomorrows Road Map wouldn’t exist without our Trailblazers, who stand shoulder to shoulder with us as we work to build a safer and healthier Greater Grand Forks.

3 EDUCATION

With our partners, we educated nearly 19,000 children and adults about healthy relationships to create a community that no longer tolerates violence. People participated from all walks of life: UND, service clubs, healthcare, criminal justice and human service organizations, churches and 28 public schools and 16 high school sports teams in Grand Forks, Emerado, Manvel, Midway, Larimore, Northwood and Thompson. In collaboration with our longtime partner, Altru Health System, we are implementing the Green Dot bystander intervention program that will equip the entire community to respond to and prevent violence.

If we all do this, believe this, and promote it, we can make a difference and change the culture at our school. — HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETE

Innovative Prevention Education Curricula

- Athletes as Leaders (Grades 9-12): Trains coaches to mentor high school female athletes to take an active role in promoting healthy relationships.
- Coaching Boys Into Men (9-12): Trains coaches to mentor high school male athletes about respecting women and girls.
- The Fourth R (9-12): Prevents dating violence.
- Friendships That Work (5-8): Increases healthy friendship skills toward preventing intimate partner violence.
- Olweus Bullying Prevention Program (K-8): Promotes a positive school climate and prevents bullying.
- Safe Dates (6-12): Prevents dating violence.
- Green Dot (Adults): Engages a critical mass of our community to permanently reduce rates of violence and empowers community members to proactively engage in healthy relationships.

1. A major grant payment and a pledge payment were received in December 2018 for use in 2019 and 2020 to support services.

2. Current promises to give include unconditional Dream Maker Society and other pledges of support expected to be collected in 2019.

3. Noncurrent promises to give include unconditional Dream Maker Society and other pledges of support expected to be collected in 2020 and beyond.

4. Endowment funds are restricted by the donor; the principal is saved, and the earned interest and appreciation may support operations.

5. CVIC's board of directors has designated assets for building repairs and maintenance and an operating reserve to be used for services in future years.

6. CVIC expended some of its net assets that were obtained in a prior period. This was not a loss, but utilization of funds for their intended purpose.

Your generosity made amazing things possible in 2018!

CRISIS & SHELTER
“You guys gave me back strength.”
– Mary's Place Shelter client

We helped 955 adults through the crisis of violence and sheltered 114 adults and kids, with 100% surveyed saying shelter made them safer. Families stayed 36% more nights at shelter because the wait for permanent housing assistance has climbed to at least a year.

SAFE CHILD VISITS
“... the way things are in life, times get pretty hard. Kids First is the one good thing that still comes out of hard times.”
– Kids First client

For kids who aren’t safe when visiting a parent, we provided protection at Kids First, serving more people (642) than ever before, with 99% of those surveyed saying they were kept safe. Parents also were safe when exchanging children with an abusive ex-partner.

THERAPY FOR KIDS AND ADULTS
“I’m happy. School isn’t so hard anymore. (My therapist) is my favorite, she listens to me.”
– Bright Futures client

We provided therapy and support for 179 children and 59 adults; 98% of 152 kids surveyed over the past five years learned healthy coping skills and improved their emotional well-being.

CRIMINAL JUSTICE SYSTEM ADVOCACY
“I can’t thank CVIC enough for helping me through this horrible time and helping me get through trial.”
– Pathways Toward Justice client

After suffering the devastation of crime, a record 1,110 people were provided case information and advocacy when offenders were prosecuted and their case entered the criminal justice system; 97% of those surveyed said they were kept well informed of their case.

ENDING VIOLENCE AT HOME
“I have hurt someone for which I regret and have asked for forgiveness.”
– New Choices client

A record 227 adults were served, with 54 successfully completing our program that helps offenders end their violence. We also collaborated closely with the new domestic violence court to hold them accountable to court orders for domestic violence programming.

PREVENTION EDUCATION
“I like that we got to speak up without being scared.”
– Local student

We reached a record 18,998 children and adults last year, providing extensive violence prevention education in 28 schools and high school sports teams across the county, as well as education for community groups and training on best practices for area professionals.
